

Industrial + Manufacturing Sector

USS manages the supply chains of a large number of international companies operating today in a variety of industry verticals, including industrial and manufacturing.

We provide a range of configured services and solutions that will help align your manufacturing logistics operations with your onshore and offshore business strategies and our technology, people and processes will drive efficiencies and reduce costs while delivering consistent and predictable outcomes.

At USS we let you focus on your core business — designing, engineering, installing, constructing and manufacturing products people depend on.

Then we ensure these products are delivered to their final destination as securely and efficiently as possible. By implementing specialized, cost-effective and flexible manufacturing logistics solutions based on years of experience and expertise, we can streamline your global supply chain from point to point, end to end.

You need a service provider that can develop and implement an integrated logistics solution to meet your needs. End-to-end supply chain coordination on a 24/7 basis among all trading partners is oftentimes required to ensure critical parts are available at the point of request with little or no downtime.

USS is committed to operational excellence, testing, refining and improving to meet your needs. USS stands by its solutions for the industrial and manufacturing vertical market segment.
